

Last Minute Valentine's: Sweets for every candy lover

San Francisco Chronicle

13 February 2008

With Valentine's Day just 24 hours away, chocolate shops are swarming with folks buying truffles for their loved ones. But not every sweetie is a chocoholic, so here are some ideas for alternative confections for your Valentine...

The retro sweets at Russian Hill's Candy Store are sourced from both sides of the pond - the British Invasion box even includes the controversial Yorkie Bar ("It's Not for Girls!"). The Blast from the Past box includes childhood favorites such as Pixy Stix and Wax Bottles. Even licorice hounds are well taken care of, with obscure offerings like Licorice Beehives and Licorice Griotten.
